

Music Monday: Onomatopoeia

Onomatopoeia! It's a big weird word that means something simple: a word that is also a sound. BOOM! WHOOSH! KRRRRROOOOAAAAATHTHTH!!!

One of the best things about Onomatopoeia is that spelling doesn't count. There's no right or wrong way to write "PBBTHUU". Come up with a few Onomatopoeia words of your own, and use them to write a poem! Try to have one Onomatopoeia word on each line, and then write what the sounds are, and tell a story about what they have to do with each other. Does one sounnd cause another sound to happen? Are there any characters involved? You can write your own poem below and have a grownup share it with us at storypirates.com/submit-a-story. Be sure to use some weird, fun, creative similes in your poem!
